

VINUM AUTMUNDIS

vinum | autmundis

Located at Germany's smallest wine region, Vinum Autmundis, is a cooperative in the town of Gross-Umstadt, it is also called the "wine island".

Not that small – at least by German standards – is the production of Vinum Autmundis, nor is the high quality standard it holds itself to.

Oliver Schröbel, Managing Director of Vinum Autmundis, worked at the famous Henkell winery earlier in his career and is a committed advocate to the region.

The vineyards are located on the slopes of the Odenwald Forest. The climate here is mild and spring is known to arrive here first – ahead of other regions in Germany. The Romans observed this fact almost 2,000 years ago, started growing vines in Gross-Umstadt – and named it "Autmundis"!

Vinum Autmundis' strength are certainly the fruit-forward Rieslings and Pinot Blanc displaying an elegant and balanced style with pleasant, mineral notes.

Left to right: Oliver Schröbel (Director), Jürgen Kronenberg (Cellar Master), Joachim Janss-Schaad (2nd Cellar Master)

Region:	Hessische Bergstrasse
Village:	Gross-Umstadt
Owner:	Cooperative
Vineyards:	70 hectare (173 acres)
Soil Types:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• "Loess": sandy limestone &amp; loam</li> <li>• Quartzite porphyry, granite</li> </ul>
Production:	40,000 cases
Grape Varietals:	Riesling, Silvaner, Pinot Noir, Pinot Gris, Pinot Blanc, Regent, Dornfelder, others.
Awards:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• 2015 DLG Federal Honors Award (Top 100 wineries)</li> <li>• 2015 State Honors Award (Top 6)</li> <li>• Recommended by the leading wine guide "Gault-Millau Germany"</li> </ul>
Methods:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Sustainable &amp; environmentally friendly</li> </ul>
Website:	www.vinum-autmundis.de

Top: Vineyard
Middle: Historic town center of Gross-Umstadt
Bottom: Barrique cellar

Top: Vineyard
Middle: Barrique made from local oak
Bottom: Vinum Autmundis team received the State Honor Award 2015

LEGENDARY
WINE IMPORTS

